BERMUDA EXEMPT COMPANY

General Information

Bermuda remains today the oldest colony of the United Kingdom yet it has been self-governing with respect to its own affairs, aside from defence and external affairs, for over 300 years. At the same time because of its strategic location in the North Atlantic (being much further north than is commonly believed and considerably closer to New York and Boston than the Caribbean) Bermuda benefits from being effectively under the US defence umbrella.

The legal system is based on English common law, modified and supplemented by Acts passed under the Bermuda Constitution Order, 1968. Bermuda is governed by the locally elected House of Assembly but ultimate authority lies with the Queen who is represented by the Governor. With a population of close to 60,000 and a thriving tourist industry, Bermuda enjoys communications and travel connections of a high standard. Bermuda has attracted substantial insurance business and, after London and New York, Bermuda enjoys the third largest premium flow of any insurance centre.

Bermuda is of interest to Hong Kong people looking for an area to establish an offshore company because the Hong Kong Stock Exchange has approved the Bermuda Exempted Company for listing purposes.

The Bermuda Exempt Company

Taxation

The Exempted Company will receive an undertaking from the Minister of Finance that the company will not be subject to any tax or duty on profits or income capital, gains or appreciations and that no inheritance tax or estate duty will be payable on shares debentures

Shareholders

These declarations are disclosed in confidence to the Bermuda Monetary Authority only. The share register of the company is open to the inspection by the general public but anonymity can be retained through the use of nominees. NB- bank references must be provided on the proposed beneficial owners of all Bermuda companies. These references must be provided by Banks where the individual has had a personal banking relationship for a minimum of three years.

BRITISH VIRGIN ISLANDS COMPANY

General Information

The British Virgin Islands are a British dependency located in the Eastern Caribbean, about 80 kilometers East of Puerto Rico. English is the official language and the official currency is the United States Dollar. The Government is stable and promises to remain that way. There is good commercial and professional infrastructure and the Government is actively encouraging the development of the offshore finance business and has now upgraded the Companies Registry by installing state of the art technology.

The International Business Companies Act was passed in 1984 and created the International Business Company (IBC) which is the preferred offshore company vehicle. In recent years the BVI has become extremely popular, particularly in the Far East region, due to the extensive marketing of the jurisdiction particularly by lawyers who moved from Panama during the Noriega regime and set up offices in the BVI.

Features of British Virgin Islands Company

Type of Company used for International Trade and Investment
International Business Company (IBC)

Taxation

IBCs pay no taxes in BVI.

Authorised and Issued Share Capital

The normal authorised share capital is US$ 50,000 with all of the shares having a par value, this being the maximum share capital for the minimum duty payable upon incorporation and annually thereafter. The share capital may be expressed in any currency. The minimum issued capital is one share of no par value or one share of par value.

Power to Allot Shares

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, the unissued shares and treasury shares of a company incorporated under IBC Act shall be at the disposal of the directors who may, without limiting or affecting any rights previously conferred on the holders of any existing shares or class or series of shares, offer, allot, grant options over or otherwise dispose of shares to such persons, at such times and upon such terms as the company may, by resolution of directors, determine.

Shares to be Fully Paid

No share in a company incorporated under IBC Act may be issued until the consideration in respect of the share is fully paid, and when issued the share is for all purposes fully paid and non-assessable save that a share issued for a promissory note or other written obligation for payment of a debt may be issued subject to forfeiture in the manner prescribed in section below.

Considerations for Shares

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles each share in a company incorporated under IBC Act shall be issued for money, services rendered, personal property (including other shares, debt obligations or other securities in the company), an estate in real property, a promissory note or other binding obligation to contribute money or property, or any combination thereof.

Forfeiture of Shares

The memorandum or articles, or an agreement for the subscription of shares, of a company incorporated under IBC Act may contain provisions for the forfeiture of shares for which payment is not made pursuant to a promissory note or other written binding obligation for payment of a debt. Any provision in the memorandum or articles, or in an agreement for the subscription of shares of a company incorporated under IBC Act providing for the forfeiture of shares shall contain a requirement that written notice specifying a date for payment to be made be served on the member who defaults in making payment pursuant to a promissory note or other written binding obligation to pay a debt.

The written notice shall name a further date not earlier than the expiration of 14 days from the date of service of the notice on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made and shall contain a statement that in the event of non-payment at or before the time named in the notice the shares, or any of them, in respect of which payment is not made will be liable to be forfeited.

Where a notice has been issued under this section and the requirements of the notice have not been complied with, the directors may, at any time before tender of payment, by resolution of directors forfeit and cancel the shares to which the notice relates. The company is under no obligation to refund any moneys to the member whose shares have been cancelled and that member shall be discharged from any further obligation to the company.

Amount of Consideration for Shares

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, shares in a company incorporated under IBC Act may be issued for such amount as may be determined from time to time by the directors, except that in the case of shares with par value, the amount shall not be less than the par value; and, in the absence of fraud, the decision of the directors as to the value of the consideration received by the company in respect of the issue is conclusive, unless a question of law is involved.

A share issued by a company incorporated under IBC Act upon conversion of, or in exchange for, another share or a debt obligation or other security in the company, shall be treated for all purposes as having been issued for money equal to the consideration received or deemed to have been received by the company in respect of the other share, debt obligation or security.

Fractional Shares

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, a company incorporated under IBC Act may issue fractions of a share and unless and to the extent otherwise provided in the memorandum or articles, a fractional share has the corresponding fractional liabilities, limitations, preferences, privileges, qualifications, restrictions, rights and other attributes of a whole share of the same class or series of shares.

Authorised Capital in Several Currencies

The authorised capital, if any, of a company incorporated under IBC Act may be stated in more than one currency in which case the par value of the shares, if any, shall be expressed in the same currencies.

Capital and Surplus Accounts

Upon the issue by a company incorporated under IBC Act of a share with par value, the consideration in respect of the share constitutes capital to the extent of the par value and the excess constitutes surplus.

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, upon the issue by a company incorporated under IBC Act of a share without par value, the consideration in respect of the share constitutes capital to the extent designated by the directors and the excess constitutes surplus, except that the directors must designate as capital an amount of the consideration that is at least equal to the amount that the share is entitled to as a preference, if any, in the assets of the company upon liquidation of the company. Upon the disposition by a company incorporated under IBC Act of a treasury share, the consideration in respect of the share is added to surplus.

Dividend of Shares

A share issued as a dividend by a company incorporated under IBC Act shall be treated for all purposes as having been issued for money equal to the surplus that is transferred to capital upon the issue of the share. In the case of a dividend of authorised but unissued shares with par value, an amount equal to the aggregate par value of the shares shall be transferred from surplus to capital at the time of distribution.

In the case of a dividend of authorised but unissued shares without par value, the amount designated by the directors shall be transferred from surplus to capital at the time of the distribution, except that the directors must designate as capital an amount that is at least equal to the amount that the shares are entitled to as a preference, if any, in the assets of the company upon liquidation of the company. A division of the issued and outstanding shares of a class or series of shares into a larger number of shares of the same class or series having a proportionally smaller par value does not constitute a dividend of shares.

Increase or Reduction of Authorised Capital

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, a company incorporated under IBC Act may amend its memorandum to increase or reduce its authorised capital, and in connection therewith, the company may increase or reduce the number or shares which the company may issue; increase or reduce the par value of any of its shares.

Where a company reduces its authorised capital, then, for purposes of computing the capital of the company, any capital that immediately before the reduction was represented by shares but immediately following the reduction is no longer represented by shares shall be deemed to be capital transferred from surplus to capital. A company shall, in writing, inform the Registrar of any increase or decrease of its authorised capital.

Division and Combination

A company incorporated under IBC Act may amend its memorandum to divide the shares, including issued shares, of a class or series into a larger number of shares of the same class or series; or to combine the shares, including issued shares, of a class or series into a smaller number of shares of the same class or series. Where shares are divided or combined, the aggregate par value of the new shares must be equal to the aggregate par value of the original shares.

Character of a Share

Shares of a company incorporated under IBC Act are personal property and are not of the nature of real property.

Share Certificates

A company incorporated under IBC Act must state in its articles whether or not certificates in respect of its shares shall be issued. If a company incorporated under IBC Act issues certificates in respect of its shares, the certificates must be signed by two directors or two officers of the company, or by one director and one officer; or must be under the common seal of the company, with or without the signature of any director or officer of the company; and the articles may provide for the signatures or common seal to be facsimiles. A certificate specifying a share held by a member of the company is prima facie evidence of the title of the member to the share specified therein.

Share Register

A company incorporated under IBC Act shall cause to be kept one or more registers to be known as share registers containing the names and addresses of the persons who hold registered shares in the company; the number of each class and series of registered shares held by each person; the date on which the name of each person was entered in the share register; the date on which any person ceased to be a member. In the case of shares issued to bearer, the total number of each class and series of shares issued to bearer; and with respect to each certificate for shares issued to bearer the identifying number of the certificate; the number of each class or series of shares issued to bearer specified therein; and the date of issue of the certificate.

But the company may delete from the register information relating to persons who are no longer members or information relating to shares issued to bearer that have been cancelled.

The share register may be in any such form as the directors may approve but if it is in magnetic, electronic or other data storage form, the company must be able to produce legible evidence of its contents. The share register is prima facie evidence of any matters directed or authorised by IBC Act to be contained therein. A company that wilfully contravenes this section is liable to a penalty of US$25.00 for each day or part thereof during which the contravention continues, and a director who knowingly permits the contravention is liable to a like penalty.

Transfer of Registered Shares

Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, registered shares of a company incorporated under IBC Act may be transferred by a written instrument of transfer signed by the transferor and containing the name and address of the transferee. A company shall not be required to treat a transferee of a registered share in the company as a member until the transferee's name has been entered in the share register. Subject to any limitations or provisions to the contrary in its memorandum or articles, a company incorporated under IBC Act must, on the application of the transferor or transferee of a registered share in the company, enter in its share register the name of the transferee of the share.

A transfer of registered shares of a deceased, incompetent or bankrupt member of a company incorporated under IBC Act made by his personal representative, guardian or trustee, as the case may be, or a transfer of registered shares owned by a person as a result of a transfer from a member by operation of law, is of the same validity as if the personal representative, guardian, trustee or transferee had been the registered holder of the shares at the time of the execution of the instrument of transfer.

CAYMAN ISLANDS EXEMPTED COMPANY

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Cayman Islands are a British colony situated in the Caribbean sea approximately 500 miles South of Miami, Florida, with a population of approximately 50,000 people of mixed origin. The Islands enjoy sophisticated legal, accounting and banking services and derive political stability by virtue of their connection with Britain. The legal system is British and the government is headed by a Governor appointed by the Crown who presides over a Government made up of twelve locally elected members and three senior civil servants who hold ex-officio office.

There is no exchange control and no restrictions on the movement of funds to or from the Islands.

The Confidential Relationships (Preservations) Law 1976 makes it a criminal offence for any person to divulge confidential information to a third party and the Cayman Islands have no double taxation treaties with any other part of the world but have undertaken to assist foreign governments by giving them information where a Cayman Island Company has been used or involved in activities which are mutually considered as criminal. Tax offences would not be covered by this treaty so no information would be revealed where allegations of tax offences are made.

The Companies (Amendment) custody of Bearer Shares Law 2001 provides for a licensed Custodian in the Cayman Islands to hold bearer shares to the order of the beneficial owner.

TYPES OF CAYMAN COMPANIES

The registration and regulation of companies are governed by the Companies Law 1998. There are six types of companies available, which include resident, non-resident, exempt, segregated portfolio, limited duration and foreign companies. Please click here for a brief introduction of the types of companies/entities available in Cayman Islands.

Ordinary Companies

An ordinary company incorporated in Cayman Islands must have at least one shareholder of record and at least one director. An annual general meeting must be held each calendar year. A Cayman ordinary company must file an annual return detailing its shareholders, with the Registrar of Companies. The Register of Members is maintained at the registered office and is open to inspection by any person.

Ordinary Non-Resident Companies

The provisions are the same for ordinary companies except that the company must be designated a non-resident company by certificate issued by the financial secretary, provided that he is of the opinion that it does not, and does not intend to, carry on business within the islands. Ordinary nonresident companies may be converted to exempted companies.

Cayman Exempt Companies

An exempted company is incorporated in the same way as an ordinary company and must have at least one director. An exempted company may not carry on business in the Cayman Islands except in furtherance of its business abroad, and may not make any invitation to the public in the Cayman Islands to subscribe for any of its shares or debentures and it may not own land in the Cayman Islands unless given specific permission by the financial secretary. Some of the benefits of an exempted company are as follows:

- (1) An Cayman exempted company does not have to file an annual return detailing its shareholders with the Registrar of Companies;
- (2) A Cayman exempted company's register of members is not open to inspection.
- (3) A Cayman exempted company does not have to hold an annual general meeting.
- (4) A Cayman exempted company may obtain an undertaking against the imposition of any future taxation that is usually given for 20 years in the first instance and is renewable.
- (5) A Cayman exempted company may register by way of continuation in another jurisdiction and be de-registered in the Cayman Islands.
- (6) A Cayman exempted company may register as a limited duration company. A limited duration company must have two shareholders of record and has a maximum life of 30 years.

Limited Duration Companies

A limited duration company (LDC) is broadly similar to the limited liability company in the United States. The LDC combines the benefit of limited liability and the convenience of administration of a corporate entity with the possibility of a transparency or flow-through for tax and other purposes in foreign jurisdiction such as treatment as a partnership for United Federal Income Tax purposes. The overall regime of the Companies Law regulating exempted companies applies to LDC's with certain additions and exceptions which are summarised below: -

- (1) The LDC must include at the end of its name limited duration company or "LDC".
- (2) It must at all times (like a partnership) have two members (shareholders).
- (3) Its Memorandum and Articles of Association must limit the duration of the LDC to 30 years or less.
- (4) The Articles of Association may provide that transfer of shares or other membership interest are prohibited or that transfers require the unanimous approval of all the other members (shareholders) and that the management of the LDC is vested in the members, or proportionally according to their shares or interest or in such other manner as the Articles of Association of the LDC may specify. In substance, this means that the members (shareholders) are the directors of the LDC. In such a case the Articles of Association may, nevertheless, also permit the delegation of the management to a board of directors.
- (5) A Cayman exempted company may register by way of continuation in another jurisdiction and be de-registered in the Cayman Islands.

(6) An LDC may cease to be an LDC by deleting from its name the word "limited duration company" or "LDC" or changing its Memorandum of Association so that its duration exceeds or may exceed 30 years.

The Companies Law permits the use of the basic exempted company as an alternative to the LDC, in circumstances where a company with a fixed life is required, but where the maximum 30-year duration of the LDC is unattractive.

Foreign Companies

A foreign company is a company that is incorporated outside the Cayman Islands, and establishes a place of business or commences carrying on business within the Cayman Islands. DELAWARE LLC

THE LLC CONCEPT

The Limited Liability Company (LLC) has special features that distinguish it from ordinary companies. Like a corporation, an LLC has a legal existence separate and distinct from its owners. Like the shareholders and directors of an ordinary company, the members and managers of an LLC are not personally liable for the LLC's debts and obligations. The principal attractions of the LLC for advisors and their clients are its operation and tax treatment:

(1) Operationally the management of the LLC functions similarly to a partnership and is governed by a written agreement among the members of the LLC; this is different from the traditional corporate governance of companies where management is outlined in the Articles of Association (also known as Bylaws).

(2) A properly structured LLC will be treated by many tax regimes as a pass-through entity with tax being paid by the members and not at the LLC level.

THE DELAWARE LLC

Each of the 50 states of the United States is constitutionally an independent legal jurisdiction with the right to enact laws in many areas of activity. Each state has enacted its own LLC statute with most states doing so after 1988 when the U.S. Internal Revenue Service commenced issuing rulings that an LLC would qualify for partnership tax treatment. Among the states, the state of Delaware has emerged as the premiere LLC jurisdiction with approximately 25,000 LLCs being formed annually. The status of Delaware as the leading LLC domicile is linked in part to the important role played in the U.S. by the Delaware corporate legislation and its Chancery Court in the development of American corporate jurisprudence. The influence of the Delaware corporate regime is evidenced by the fact that more than half of the companies on the Fortune 500 list and of the companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange are domiciled in Delaware.

An equally important factor for Delaware's popularity as a corporate domicile is the pro-business role of the Government of Delaware specifically the office of the Secretary of State which is responsible for corporate formation.

FOREIGN OWNERSHIP OF LLCs

There are important tax and corporate governance advantages to the ownership by non-U.S. persons of a Delaware LLC. These are:

(1) No restrictions on foreign ownership or management of the LLC. Members may be individuals or business entities of any nationality or domicile. Single member LLC's are permitted. . With the exception of a Registered Office and Registered Agent in Delaware, no physical presence is required.

(2) The LLC management agreement is not a matter of public record and can be in any language.

(3) No disclosure in the public record of the names of the members or managers of the LLC.

(4) Non-residents of the U.S. who are members of an LLC and who are not otherwise subject to U.S. federal income taxation pay no tax in the U.S. if the LLC's income is from non-U.S. sources and the LLC carries on no business in the U.S.

(5) The LLC's corporate records may be maintained outside of the U.S.

(6) The ownership interests in an LLC of an individual non-resident of the U.S. are subject to the U.S. estate tax but can be avoided if the ownership interest is held through a foreign company.

GOVERNMENT FILINGS

On formation the LLC files a Certificate of Formation with the office of the Secretary of State which lists:

(1) The name of the LLC which name must contain the words "Limited Liability Company" or the abbreviation "L.L.C." or "LLC".

(2) The name and address in Delaware of the LLC's registered agent and registered office.

The LLC is not required to make any reports to the State of Delaware of its members, managers, directors or income.

If the LLC has more than one member it is required after establishment to apply for a Federal Tax Identification Number and on an annual basis to file an information return with the U.S. Internal Revenue Service. Provided that there is no income earned from United States sources that would be taxable by the U.S., the information return will reflect that the LLC had no taxable income for the relevant tax year. As part of our LLC management service we can apply for the LLC's tax identification number and prepare and file the LLC's annual information return.

If the LLC has only one member its existence as a separate entity can be disregarded for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The single member LLC is not required to apply for a Federal Tax Identification Number nor file an annual information return.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

A unique feature of the LLC legislation is that it allows members to define their business relationship in a written agreement which governs the operation and management of the entity.

The policy of the drafters of the LLC legislation was to allow members of the LLC the maximum freedom of contract in the commercial context. As part of our LLC service we provide clients with a specimen LLC operating agreement for their use.

The members of the LLC may choose whether they wish to manage the entity or to appoint a member or a third party to be the manager. There is no requirement that members themselves be the managers of the LLC. A member acting as the manager or a third party acting as the manager is not liable for any debts or liabilities of the LLC solely by reason of that person being a member or acting as a manager.

The typical LLC agreement will address the following issues:

- . Identifying the party responsible for managing the LLC.
- . Rights and duties of the manager and any limitations or restrictions on such authority.
- . The economic rights of members, including the making of contributions to the LLC, the right to receive allocations of profits and losses, and the timing of and restrictions on distributions by the LLC to its members.
- . Any special voting rights.
- . Any classes or groups of members or managers with different rights, powers and duties.
- . The issuance and transfer of interests in the LLC, the admission and withdrawal of members.
- . Mandatory and non-mandatory purchase of interests in the LLC on the occurrence of specified events such as death, disability, resignation or expulsion of a member.

Where the operating agreement is silent on a management issue, the provisions of the LLC statute will apply.

PARTNERSHIP TAX TREATMENT

Depending on the tax domicile of members it may be possible to provide through a written agreement of members for allocations of income and/or deductions of an LLC treated as a partnership among members on amounts which differ from the members' economic interests in the LLC as well as the ability to provide a tax basis to members for non-recourse debt. It also is permissible for the members to elect for an LLC to be treated as a separate corporate entity.

USES FOR LLCS

The LLC structure is particularly attractive as an alternative to the use of general partnerships and limited partnerships as the LLC provides all members with limited liability protection against claims of creditors. This protection benefits entrepreneurs and other start-ups.

The pass-through tax character of the LLC means that for a single member LLC tax return preparation and reporting occurs only at the member level with resulting cost savings and administrative efficiencies for all businesses that can operate in an LLC structure.

Venture capital, real estate and other types of joint ventures can take advantage of the ability to use the LLC operating agreement to allocate profits and losses among participants in a manner which reflects the business agreements they have reached.

The ability to limit the life of the LLC can also be used effectively in joint ventures, start-ups and other projects with a transactional purpose that is for a specified time period.

The LLC can be employed in the international context to achieve tax efficiencies where the income of an LLC is allocated among members from different tax regimes.

MARSHALL ISLANDS COMPANY

GENERAL INFORMATION

Location

Located nearly midway between Indonesia and Hawaii, the Marshall Islands are the eastern-most island group in Micronesia. The Marshall Islands cover approximately 2 million sq. km in the Central Pacific Ocean, with two 1,280 km long parallel chains of atolls and volcanic islands separated by 179 km of sea. The Islands feature sandy beaches ringed by coconut laden palm trees, and surrounded by crystal-clear lagoons teeming with tropical fish, giant turtles and colourful coral.

Population

The islands have a population of just over 43,000 most of whom live in the capital Majuro.

Political Structure

The islands were settled some 4,000 years ago. In the 16th century, the Spanish were the first in a long series of visitors. Later, Russian navigators visited the Islands more extensively. It was not until the 18th century that British naval officer John Marshall rediscovered and gave his name to the Islands.

Germany annexed the Marshall Islands in 1885. After World War I, under a League of Nations mandate, the Japanese administered the Islands. After the Second World War, the Marshall Islands became a United Nations Trust Territory of the Pacific Islands under United States administration. The Republic of the Marshall Islands gained independence in 1986, becoming a full member of the United Nations in 1991.

The Marshall Islands Constitution, signed in 1979, is a blend of American and British models of government. Under the parliamentary system, the legislature, known as the Nitijela, elects a President from among its members. In turn, the President nominates a Cabinet of six to ten members.

The legal system is administered by courts whose judges are appointed by the Cabinet. The court system consists of local courts of first instance, a Traditional Rights Court with jurisdiction over real property matters and a High Court with maritime jurisdiction. Appeals may be brought before the Supreme Court in all cases.

Infrastructure and Economy

The infrastructure in the Marshall Islands is more sophisticated than most other nations in the region. The two islands with most of the population, Majuro and Ebeye both have reliable power plants and public water systems. There are two international airports and 26 airstrips scattered throughout the larger islands. There are also 12 deep water docks for large ocean going ships.

MARSHALL ISLANDS IBC

Excellent international communications on Majuro and Ebeye are provided by satellite links for telephone, fax and telex. Presently, there are two major Pacific region banks, as well as the Bank of the Marshall Islands - all on Majuro.

An important industry is large-scale commercial fishing. Japanese fishermen, who are licensed to fish Marshallese waters, haul in roughly 42 million pounds of tuna and billfish each year. The export of coconuts (copra) is another important economic factor.

The Marshall Islands has a rapidly growing ship registry, increasing by over 50% between 1994 and 1995. Vessel types include oil tankers, bulk carriers, container ships and fishing vessels.

The Marshall Islands only recently began to be viewed as a tourist destination. For environmental reasons, controlled tourism is the watch-word, whether on Majuro or on the outer atolls, the lagoons and the ocean offer snorkelling, scuba diving, sport-fishing and sailing.

SINGAPORE PRIVATE COMPANY

GENERAL INFORMATION

The Republic of Singapore is a British Commonwealth country located at the tip of the Malaysian peninsula and occupying an area of 622 square kilometres. Singapore gained independence from Britain in 1965 but because of its close connection to the Crown the business language is English and the English common law system applies. Local currency is the Singapore Dollar and there is an excellent professional infrastructure with good legal services.

Most of the large accountancy firms have offices in Singapore as do most of the major international banks. Communications are excellent with state of the art telecommunications equipment and an airport which serves as a regional hub for over 100 destinations.

FEATURES OF SINGAPORE COMPANY

A Singapore incorporated company may be deemed resident or non-resident depending on its place of central management and control. Thus, in simple terms, a Singapore company which has a majority of its directors resident in Singapore will be deemed resident and those which have a majority of directors resident outside Singapore would normally be deemed non-resident. The place of central control and management is the only practical difference between a resident and non-resident Singapore company.

All Singapore companies have the following characteristics:

Taxation

The current rate of corporation tax is 26%. A Singapore resident company is only taxed on Singapore source income and foreign income which is remitted to Singapore. A non-resident Singapore company would pay tax only on Singapore source income. Please note that for the company to gain the benefit of the double taxation treaties signed by Singapore it is likely that the company would have to be resident. Treaties have presently been concluded with Australia, Bangladesh, Belgium, Canada, China, Denmark, Finland, France, Germany, India, Indonesia, Israel, Italy, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, The Netherlands, New Zealand, Norway, Philippines, Sri Lanka, Sweden, Switzerland, Taiwan, Thailand, United Kingdom.

Share Capital

The usual authorised share capital is SGD100,000. Share capital may be denominated in Singapore dollars or other currencies. Separate classes of shares may be created with differing rights to dividends or otherwise. A minimum of two subscribers is required to establish a company. A subscriber can be a company or an individual. After incorporation the company may have a minimum of either two individual shareholders or one corporate shareholder. Shareholders need not be Singapore resident.

Shareholders

A minimum of two shareholders are required whose details appear on the public register. Corporate shareholders are permitted. Anonymity can be achieved by the use of nominee shareholders.

Directors

A minimum of two directors are required and full details of these must be filed with the Public

Registry. Corporate directors are not permitted. One director must be a resident of Singapore and this director remains responsible for the compliance by the company with the Singapore Companies Act and may continue to be liable for those obligations even after resigning. Additionally, if the company wishes to receive relief under the various tax treaties signed by Singapore it is likely that it would be necessary to demonstrate that the company has a majority of Singapore resident directors in order to establish that the company is resident in Singapore for tax purposes. Corporate directors are not permitted.

Company Secretary

There must be a secretary who is a natural person and whose principal or only place of residence is in Singapore. The secretary must be qualified in terms of the Singapore Companies Act. Persons qualified include chartered secretaries, lawyers and chartered accountants. The secretary may also be a director. The secretary's particulars must be filed with the Registrar.

Annual Reporting

All Singapore companies must prepare full audited accounts and must keep a copy of such accounts at the registered office address. All except exempt private companies (a private company with less than 20 members and in which no corporation has a beneficial interest in its shares) must file accounts on the public register.

Timescale

Incorporation of a Singapore company takes around 2 weeks but it usually takes a further 2 weeks before the original copy of the Certificate of Incorporation can be obtained. Further delays may occur where permission from a Singapore statutory authority is required which is the case where a company is to be incorporated with foreign participants although nominee shareholders can be provided for the purpose of incorporation thereby avoiding the requirement for authorisation.

Restrictions on Name and Activity

Company names which are the same as or similar to existing names are not permitted. A holding company can, however, consent to its name being included as part of a subsidiary's name. Private limited liability company names must end with the words "Private Limited" or "Private Sendirian" or an abbreviation of the same. The name of a company can be changed in about 14 days.

Registered Office

As a matter of local company law the company MUST maintain a registered office address within Singapore.

UNITED KINGDOM COMPANY

GENERAL INFORMATION

The United Kingdom ("U.K.") comprises England, Scotland, Northern Ireland and Wales and is one of the fifteen member states of the European Union. It has an area of some 244,100 square kilometers (94,250 sq. miles) with an estimated population in excess of 57 million. London is one of the world's leading centres for banking, insurance and other financial services; lying between New York and Tokyo it is the third leg of the world's capital markets. Not the least of its attractions is that it is a politically stable English speaking country.

The U.K. is strategically located off the Northwest coast of Continental Europe and has excellent communications; it has three major international airports in Heathrow, Gatwick and Manchester with extensive worldwide connections. Recently the U.K. was physically joined to the mainland Continent by the opening of the Channel rail tunnel link which boasts frequent train services for passengers and cars to Paris and Brussels. The U.K. has signed double taxation treaties with 100 countries and thus enjoys the most extensive double taxation treaty network in the world.

FEATURES of U.K. COMPANY

Taxation

The corporation tax rates are the lowest in the European Union. Tax is levied at 20% on a U.K.

company which has net profits under 300,000. For profits between 300,000 and 1.5million there will be an effective marginal rate of 32.5% and a tax rate of 30% is levied where the profits are over this figure.

Generally speaking, a U.K. company is taxable on its world wide income at the rates indicated above. However, a U.K. incorporated company may still be classified as non-resident for tax purposes, and therefore non taxable in the U.K. on non U.K. source income, if it is managed and controlled from a country with which the U.K. has signed a double taxation treaty which contains a recognised "tie-breaker clause". By careful selection of the country from which the U.K. company is managed it may therefore be possible to create a non-taxable U.K. entity. For example, Portugal has a suitable tax treaty with the U.K. so a U.K. company managed from Madeira (Madeira being part of Portugal) would neither be taxable in Madeira nor the U.K. It is important to note that such a U.K. company would not qualify to receive benefits under the tax treaty signed by the U.K. but might qualify for Portuguese tax treaty benefits so the major benefit of this structure is to create a non-taxable entity which has the added respectability of a U.K. persona.

Another recent innovation Section 246S of The Taxes Act 1988 (as inserted by Schedule 16 of The Finance Act 1994) creates the U.K. International Headquarters Company ("IHC"). This status may be accorded to ordinary U.K. companies which are at least 80% beneficially owned by non-residents. An IHC is an extremely useful vehicle for the collection of foreign dividend income as, in general terms, a full credit is given against U.K. tax for any tax paid on the remitted profits before arrival in the U.K. Thus as long as the dividend income has already suffered tax at a rate higher than or equal to the applicable UK rate (32.5%/30%/20%) no U.K. tax will be payable on that income either on arrival or on distribution. For example, a Danish subsidiary of a U.K. IHC would pay tax on its profits at 34%. If the Danish subsidiary distributed profit by way of dividend to the IHC parent no further tax would be levied on arrival in the U.K. because a credit would be given for tax paid in Denmark. This makes the U.K. IHC an extremely attractive holding company vehicle for investment into Europe or otherwise and in most cases will be more attractive than competitive structures available through the Netherlands, Austria, Switzerland etc.

Shareholders

A U.K. company must have a minimum of one shareholder who may be a corporate body or an individual. Details of the shareholders appear on public record but anonymity may be retained by the use of nominee shareholders or holding companies.

Directors

A U.K. company must have at least one director and a company secretary. A sole director cannot also be the secretary. The Director can be an individual or a company. If there is more than one director, one of them can also be the secretary but, as U.K. company law is complex, it is highly recommended that a professional secretary with relevant experience is appointed. Details of the directors appear on the public file but anonymity can be retained by the use of third party professionals.

Annual Reporting

Generally a U.K. company must appoint an auditor and audited accounts must be filed with the Companies Registry within 9 months of the financial year end. In a large number of cases companies with sales of under 90,000 are exempt from this requirement and those with turnover of less than 350,000 need only produce abbreviated accounts with a special accountant's report. An annual return giving details of directors and shareholders is required for all companies.

Timescale

Incorporation of a new company can take up to three weeks but ready-made companies are available for immediate use. However, a premium can be paid of USD500 for a 48 hour incorporation service.

Capital

A minimum issued capital of USD2,000 is required.

Local Requirements

As a matter of local company law the company MUST maintain a registered office address within the U.K. and must also appoint a company secretary who, for practical reasons, must be resident in the U.K. We would normally provide these services as part of our domiciliary service fee.

Secrecy

There are no specific laws relating to the unauthorised disclosure of information on a U.K. company, its directors or owners but U.K. law recognises the common law duty that professionals have towards their clients to keep their affairs confidential.
